Marius: Tell us a bit about yourself.

Scott: I'm a 26-year old computer engineer. And in the past nine and a half months, I have been getting more women than I've ever gotten in my entire life. Now...you're probably thinking, "This guy is just 26. Of course he hasn't gotten many women before." That's VERY true. In fact, I did not even lose my V-Card until I was 23.

See...I'm from a well-off family and my parents had decided to homeschool me until Grade 10. I did go to a public school for Grade 11, but then I skipped my last year of high school and went straight to college.

As you can probably imagine, homeschooling SUCKS for your love life. Throughout my teenage years, the ONLY time I got to meet girls was when I went to Church. There was a girl I liked at Church, but since my Church was against teenage dating, there was nothing I could do about it.

Marius: Did going to a "real high school" help?

Scott: Going to a public school for a year didn't improve my love life at all. I got onto the track and field team, but all the cool guys were on the football or basketball team. It was really jock city. I had no friends. That's why I was really happy about going to college a year early.

Marius: Did anything change at college?

Scott: Well...going to a school in California was definitely a big change for me. The girls were so much wilder than the ones back home. On the first day of school, a girl flashed her nipples at me. She was wearing this really tight white t-shirt and I just happened to be facing her. My face immediately went blushing red as I saw her erect nipples showing through her shirt. I think she caught me blushing...but I don't think she minded because she was smiling at me. I turned my face away and I felt like my whole body was paralyzed or something. I didn't know how to deal with the situation at all. It was completely foreign to me.

I suddenly realized how young I was. I was barely 18, and everybody was around 20 or older. All the other guys were already flirting with the girls on the first day of school, getting phone numbers and stuff. But I just sat in my own little corner and avoided eye contact with anyone.

Marius: So you didn't make any friends at all?

Scott: I did make a lot of friends during my 4 years at college. But the trouble was that all the girls treated me like their little brother. I hated it! I already had a sister back home. I didn't need any more "sisters"!

There was ONE girl that I really liked, Kelly. But unfortunately she already had a boyfriend. Her boyfriend wasn't really good to her, but she "loved" him. She used to tell me that all the time. That's why I never told her I liked her too.

So...I never had a girlfriend during my four years of college. Not that I tried hard. I was really busy with my schedule since I was an engineer.

Marius: So when did your life start to change?

Scott: Well after I finished college I started working for a company. I thought about going into the military but ended up getting a job instead. The pay was decent but I was working overtime everyday. So that didn't leave me any time to meet any women. 2 years later I got a job offer from another company. They offered me a pay raise so I took it. The workload was a bit less than the first company's, so I did have some spare time to party with some friends.

One night I went to this party...and a girl was pissed drunk. We started talking together and soon we were dancing in the living room with all the other people. It was weird. She took my hand and pulled me off the couch. I just followed her. She was wearing a tiny red dress and she kept on rubbing herself against me. I felt the smooth fabric of her dress against my skin and became very aroused. Then before I knew what was happening she had taken me upstairs and into her friend's room. We started kissing. It was my first kiss with a woman and I didn't know what I was doing...but she was really aggressive and I sort of just went along. She unbuttoned my shirt and started playing with my chest. I lost my V-Card about ten minutes after.

I knew it was a "one-night stand", so I did not even bother to ask her out after. But I had a real problem – I wanted to do it again. Sleeping with her that one night had opened me to a whole new world. I never realized sex was so great. I loved it and I wanted to do it again really badly.

So I started chasing after girls. Overnight, I had gone from "not too interested about women" to "crazy about women". I started asking women for their phone numbers and dates. But I was getting turned down a lot. I did have first dates with a couple of girls...but none of them wanted to keep on seeing me.

In short, I faced rejection after rejection for a few months. My confidence and self-esteem shrunk. I felt like a nobody.

I started looking at porn on the Internet. I subscribed to two adult sites and I was spending a couple of hours on them every week. I stopped going out as much because I was sick of being rejected by women. All I wanted was a girlfriend, and I couldn't even get a phone number! Oh boy was I bitter.

Marius: So how did you come across my site?

Scott: One day while surfing for porn I came across a dating tips website. And from there I clicked on the link to Marius's dating newsletter. I signed up not really knowing what it was. Then I started receiving articles from him. They were convincing enough, so I downloaded his ebook. I read the whole thing in one sitting. All I could say was "wow". It REALLY opened my eyes that much.

I was expecting some cheesy book with some "pickup lines" that I could use on women. But what I got instead was much more. It was more like a "complete system" to dating. To me, the most important part was the chapter about understanding how women think. That part REALLY blew my mind. For the first time in my life, I began to understand what women really want. It was like getting a brand new perspective on women and dating. In less than 2 hours, I had felt like a "new" person.

But of course, going out and applying the stuff took a lot of hard work. The ebook did some me how to do everything in detail, but it was still scary to walk up to a woman and flirt with her.

I tried some of the flirting techniques I learned from the book, and they worked like gold. Women started paying more attention to me. They would pound on my chest or touch my arm. It was great!

Marius: But I remember you emailing me for help.

Scott: Yes. Getting attention from women was great and everything. But I still had trouble "closing the sale".

Marius: How so?

Scott: Well...I really wanted sex. But I didn't know how to get it when the time came. Like...I would do great until we're making out on the couch. And then I'd freeze up because I didn't know what to do after.

Marius: And what did I tell you?

Scott: You told me something about me not being comfortable with my own body and sexuality. It hit me like a rock. That was so true.

Marius: But you wanted sex, right?

Scott: A lot.

Marius: But yet you were afraid of it?

Scott: Yes...

Marius: Good. I just wanted to bring this point across to our readers. It is possible to want sex and be afraid of it at the same time. In fact, it happens a lot to guys on my list. What else did I tell you?

Scott: You told me that I was longing for the results of sex but afraid of the “process” of getting there.

Marius: Go on.

Scott: Then you told me to pretend I was already getting the results and told me to focus on the process.

Marius: Do you mind sharing the two exercises I got you to do? I am sure our readers would love to hear them.

Scott: Okay.

First you got me to visualize myself meeting her and making out with her and everything. Then you got me to visualize myself cuddling with her AFTER I had already had sex with her.

Marius: You missed out the most important part of the exercise. What was it? Don't be embarrassed.

Scott: You told me to visualize what her face would look like after six orgasms lol...

Marius: That's right. Did you like the feeling?

Scott: Yes...it made me more certain about myself. It's weird.

Marius: What was the other exercise I got you to do?

Scott: You got me to keep saying to myself in my head, “Just how far can I go?” while I was making out with her. The idea was to treat the whole thing like a game so I would be less nervous.

Marius: Did it work?

Scott: Yes! Very well! I slept with a girl the first time I used it!

Marius: What did you learn from this?

Scott: I learned that the “inner game” is very important when it comes to attracting women. All you did was help me work on my inner game, and my success came instantly. I finally realized what you meant in your ebook when you said that having the proper mindset is the most important in the dating game. So I went back to the ebook and read it a couple of times...and I spent a couple of days thinking about how I could improve my inner game.

Marius: Did it help?

Scott: Oh yes. It helped me tremendously. From approaching women to flirting with women and getting phone numbers or dates... I know this sounds a little crazy, but I think I have become a “whole different person”.

Marius: What do you mean?

Scott: I mean I am now much more comfortable with who I am than I used to be. I used to think changing my mindset means “changing my personality” or “pretending I am another person”. But really...I still feel real. I still feel like myself. It’s just that I feel much more...empowered. Like I can walk up to any woman and strike up a conversation with her.

Marius: Like being in control of your own life?

Scott: Yes, but that’s not all of it. Somehow I feel I am enjoying life much more than I was before. Not only am I “in control” of my own life, I am also ENJOYING living life. That’s what I mean when I say I feel like a “different person”. I am not my boring self anymore. I am still me – only more exciting. That’s why I think your ebook actually goes “deeper” than dating. I think it teaches you how to “live life” like a man.

Marius: Well, as I say all the time, your love life is often a reflection of your life in general. If you’re passive in the dating game, you’re probably passive in your career or education.

Scott: I agree!

Marius: So how’s your love life now?

Scott: I have slept with 26 women in the past nine months or so. The girls dig me now. I am probably going to keep dating and sleeping with women casually for a couple of years. I think there’re still a lot of things to learn. I’ll eventually settle down...but right now I just want to have fun.

Marius: And have a lot of sex.

Scott: Yes. And have a lot of sex.

Marius: Do you have any other comments for my readers?

Scott: WORK ON YOUR INNER GAME. It has helped me tremendously, and it will help you too.

Marius: That’s it?

Scott: Well...get Marius’s ebook.

Marius: Lol.

Scott: I am serious. It has really opened my eyes. I can’t imagine where I would be right now if I hadn’t read it. I encourage everyone to invest in it. I mean...come on...a couple of bad dates is worth more than the cost of the book.

Marius: Anything else? Any “closing comments?” Like any “nuggets of gold” for my readers?

Scott: It’s your life. Don’t waste it.

Marius: That’s it?

Scott: Yes. That’s it for now.

Marius: Thank you, Scott!
